An operating system for the X3ME series computers. It runs on all computers in the X3ME series. Features: Since this operating system is an emulation of the MS-DOS operating system, it has the same functions as the original MS-DOS operating system. It provides the functions of backup, loading, and unloading, boot, shutdown, etc. It also supports the USB drivers, and it supports up to 8 users. It can run a standard application for multi-user operation. It can also run applications, which are archived in the self-loader, as a multi-user application. NOTE: Before you install the operating system, you should install the standard MS-DOS environment. It is also good to have the KenBAT or BTOS for running these applications. More Info: A stunning diptych of moments from the week when a thief stole a painting off the walls of an artist's gallery. Picture: Ingrid Wickel / Jürgen Teller An art gallery worker has revealed how a thief stole a piece of art off the walls of an exhibition in North Wales, during the second week of a show by Austrian artist Jürgen Teller. Share Email this article to a friend To send a link to this page you must be logged in. The theft took place on Wednesday evening at the National Museum of Wales, where a contemporary painting by the artist had been hung above a specially-wrought slate wall niche made to display another piece, by artist Tracey Emin. Reports in the local press revealed that the 61-year-old Teller's work, titled 'Dodo', was taken by a man armed with a crowbar, who smashed through the glass display case and made off with the painting. The theft took place during the second week of Teller's exhibition, titled 'Towards an Inclusive Vision', which was officially opened on Thursday. Following the break-in, the artist was reportedly struck by the brazen nature of the crime. "I was very shocked. Not even in horror movies, I had read about this," the artist, who was in the UK for the opening of the exhibition, told a journalist for the Daily Post. "I consider
