Task Manager helps you get rid of the cruft that is often present in your browser's address bar, even while you are browsing. Yes, I had a tab or two open and I decided to close them. It was time to fix this and I decided to go with a tool that would help me out. The first thing you need to know is that since there are so many add-ons that offer this, it's best to try and go with the one that
