Suddenly, you noticed that the App Store review section is filled with negative comments about the app, and it is really making things difficult for your team to do its work. A lot of people hate how the app doesn't do things the way they expect it to, and as a result they are just throwing a lot of eggs at the app developer, by saying that the app sucks and the developer sucks. You don't like the fact that people are hating on the app, and you're the CEO of eBay and you know that the people who use the app actually like the app and really like the work of the developer. You can't ignore the fact that people are throwing eggs at the app, so you go to the developer to sort this problem out. "Hey developer, we know that there are a lot of people who are negative about this app. Can we do something to sort this out so that people stop hating on the app?" "Sure, let's do that!" says the developer. So, what does the developer do? She or he adds a ton of new features to the app, and it now has way more functionality than before.
