March 14, 2011 · Reviewing Physical Education Learning Packets 21 Martial Arts Answer Key.zip By Joanne Drake | March 14, 2011 | The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) reported that the total enrollment in public elementary and secondary schools in the United States was 5.3 million, down 6 percent since 2009. A total of 15.6 million students attend school in Washington, D.C. alone, up 7.1 percent. (1) The number of students attending class in a traditional classroom setting has also been declining. The estimated 7.7 million students who attend school in a classroom setting, such as a traditional classroom, virtual classroom, or an online setting, was down 2.4 percent since 2009. (2) The number of students who attend school in nontraditional settings, such as a home-based classroom, computer lab, or even a school that meets online, increased 6.4 percent between 2009 and 2010. Many school districts have responded to the changing student demographic in their schools by creating nontraditional learning opportunities, such as home-based classrooms, for students with special needs or learning disabilities. The demand for nontraditional learning models has increased, as students learn about how the technology of today can be utilized to enhance their learning experience.
