diseases. Chinese stemless horse chestnuts (Aesculus hippocastanum L.) have been reported to have antidiabetic activity. The aesculus plant is a commonly used traditional medicine for the treatment of common cold, cough, fever and sore throat. However, there is no scientific basis for such use. The aesculus plants contain saponins, including esculin, and have also been used to treat chest cold. Hitherto, the chemical composition of Aesculus has not been characterized, and the relationship between esculin and anti-SARS medicine was unknown. To determine whether Aesculus hippocastanum was effective against the novel SARS coronavirus (SARS-CoV), an aqueous extract of Aesculus hippocastanum leaves was compared with a known anti-SARS medicine, borneol, for anti-SARS activity in vitro. Aesculus hippocastanum leaves significantly inhibited growth of all SARS-CoV strains tested at less than 200 microg ml(-1) concentration, and was more potent than borneol. To test whether A. hippocastanum was a putative source of severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS), we used the polymerase chain reaction (PCR) to amplify the internal transcribed spacer (ITS) region of ribosomal DNA from samples of Aesculus hippocastanum leaves collected from various parts of the world.

Unexpectedly, our results demonstrated that all the Aesculus hippocastanum plant samples used as traditional medicine in the treatment of common cold, cough, fever and sore throat in China were highly contaminated with a SARS-like virus. Therefore, the administration of A.

hippocastanum as well as traditional medicine is no longer recommended, particularly in SARS-infected areas. Keiki sarasinha Keiki sarasinha is a Hawaiian slang term for a male's testicles. The term appears to derive from the Bantu language k b7e8fdf5c8
