“I’ve never played an RPG where a single mistake or wrong move left you literally dead- it’s quite a chilling experience.” “By far my favorite RPG of the year... It’s perfection, straight up.” “If you want a fantasy RPG, this is the game you have been waiting for.” “This is a must-have game.” “There is no other game like this on Steam right now, and it’s so well done, so polished, it is an absolute joy to play.” REVIEWS SAMENHANG GAME: “A very heavy-handed take on a first-person game where you and the player get to share a world together. You can enter into and leave at the player’s pace, and enter player-selected areas at your own pace.” “Exploring a world with your friends is really fun.” “It takes a lot of time to be patient but it is very well worth it.” “Smackdown is a surprisingly heavy-handed and fun multiplayer game that will probably melt your face.” “Pick up the game and play with your friends. It’s more fun.” “This reminds me of bonding with friends over comics.” “On the surface it’s a simple game but once you get in there you’ll see what makes it awesome.” REVIEWS LEAVING ORDEALS GAME: “That is the real beauty of this game.” “For people who love JRPGs and open world games but hate the genre’s common tropes, this is the game for you.” “Just a fun, fantastic game.” “Simply put, Leaving Ordeals is everything I want in a game.” “This game is filled with personality and imagination.” “The game is already good but with the addition of the new difficulty setting it becomes great.” “This game is just so damn good.” REVIEWS BENTROPIA GAME: “A free game with bff6bb2d33

TETHER CHAINS - Our Review "With the launch of the Playstation 3 there has been a growing interest in online gaming. When presented with such an opportunity, it is tempting to jump at it. After all, online gaming can deliver all the fun and excitement of the game console to your home, but without the worries of managing a game system and a delivery console. We've all been guilty of this in the past. The problem with online gaming is that it is generally of the sort that frustrates the hell out of the gamer without delivering an exceptional game experience. The next-gen consoles are breaking this mould and opening the door to online gaming of a new, really awesome variety. Tether is a title that has the capability to be the gateway to this new online gaming world. The reason for that is because it is delivering on the promise of cross-platform play and online play. This is something that has been called out as one of the reasons to buy a PS3 because it will offer a much needed dimension to online gaming. While many games have failed to deliver on this promise due to a lack of innovation or updates, Tether seems to have the right blend of both. This is just a small sample of what is currently on offer in the online world. It will expand and grow as more titles like it become available. At this moment, with the current selection of titles, Tether provides some of the best online the Elder Scrolls Online: a new action RPG that will mix the world-building (awesome) of WoW with 'em, and other elements of the original. It's to be released "this year" on PS3, 360, and PC as both a retail, and a digital download.Q: VBA code to export range to excel, the whole range, not data, as dynamic labels not working I'm trying to wrap my head around this. I want to export a range in the z-column to excel. The output works as intended, however, the dynamic label is not visible. I thought I get this working with.FormulaData. My code: Sub My_Macro() 'Copy cell data to clipboard ' Then, paste it to Excel ' You can use sheet.Range(".Z10:Z", DataBodyRange).Copy ' The following statement works with data only. ' This formula works with range only ' You can use sheet.Range("Z10:Z").FormulaData ' For formatted formulas, use.Formula instead of.FormulaData ' This statement gives an error with range only. 'sheet.Range("Z10:Z").Formula =... ' 'To get the formatting correct, use.FormulaLocal ' You can copy and paste it to another sheet 'sheet.Range(.Cells(1, 1),.Cells(1 + iTotalRows, 30)).Copy 'sheet.Range("I9:C" & iTotalRows).PasteSpecial 'The code should be smarter, try to export labels only without any data! 'Range(.Cells(1, 11),.Cells(1 + iTotalRows, 11)).Copy 'sheet.Range("L9:D" & iTotalRows).PasteSpecial 'As a table it would be: 'sheet.Range("F9:G" & iTotalRows).Copy 'sheet.Range("L9:D" &

Q: How to set the bounds of a UIView to be centered in a UIImageView? I have an app that pulls a set of images off the web, and displays them in a UIImageView. What I'd like to do is, when the user taps on an image, it pulls up a side menu, and then displays that menu's data in a UIView. I've got the menu's data coming in through an API call, so I'm just loading the menu data into an array. I'm having trouble figuring out how to get a centered view to cover all of the image that's currently in the UIImageView. I have this in my viewDidLoad: [self setCenterViewController:[[ContentPlaceViewController alloc] initWithNibName:@"ContentPlaceViewController" bundle:nil]]; This is my viewDidLoad: -(void)viewDidLoad { [super viewDidLoad]; imageView.contentMode = UIViewContentModeScaleAspectFit; [self setCenterViewController:[[ContentPlaceViewController alloc] initWithNibName:@"ContentPlaceViewController" bundle:nil]]; [self.tableView setContentInset:UIEdgeInsetsMake(0,0,0,0)]; } And here is my button action: -(IBAction)btnMenu:(id)sender { [self setCenterViewController:[[ContentPlaceViewController alloc] initWithNibName:@"ContentPlaceViewController" bundle:nil]]; [self.navigationController setNavigationBarHidden:NO]; [self.navigationController setNavigationBarHidden:YES]; [self.navigationController setModalPresentationStyle:UIModalPresentationCurrentContext]; [[self.mainContentImageView viewWithTag:99] setHidden:YES]; [[self.mainContentImageView] setHidden:NO]; [[self btnMenu] setHidden:YES]; } This works, but only as long as the image is slightly wider than the image view. A: I think this issue should be solved as follow:
