What's new:

's chat [WeWB] Anileia2555 asks: All the new stories, have you thought about having a picture viewer of some sort next to each story? Something a bit like small stories in museum image viewer projects? I think this would be something great to add to the meta. With polls already add picture viewers (when in the backend of WoC, not the front), so I think it would be very easy for you to implement. [sheistichoal] Anileia2555 asks: You were talking about having a hybrid of story and polls, so with that in mind I would like to know what interaction would fit in best with a new hybrid story? Maybe hiding the poll results above the story text? That way it feels like a new story and gives the reader a place to interact. [sheistichoal] Anileia2555 asks: @Anileia2555 I don't think I asked that before in the group. I think it would be very good to have a poll system, but you still need to be able to share your poll in the story, so I don't think it's worth the confusion on the long term. So I asked about if there is a better way to give poll data in the meta, and if there isn't that is a great feature to implement, so I don't think it would be useless. [sheistichoal] Anileia2555 asks: The "fan art" is from this untrusted artist called Tom [Helen] sheistichoal asks: @Anileia2555 @Anileia2555 A suggestion that I thought was decent at first was to have an option right below the submit image button to include a poll option, and then answer that poll as a comment. But that is, unfortunately, not what we're going to do, for the following reason: we really want people to come to this site to build their own stories, and not poll each other for news stories. And I look at someone like Tom, and sometimes when I really want to understand some little part of someone's fanart...well it's just about unappealing. I guess the definition of what's "hateful" to one person is different from what's hateful to someone else, so I don't think we can really define such things, and unless people are being mean, abusive, etc - I don't
