Q: How to use a variable to find and delete multiple records in mysql? I have a table that needs to be deleted from the table as a record for a specific date. Say there is a list of 100 records: id datestamp 1 2015-05-02 2 2015-05-03 3 2015-05-03 4 2015-05-04 5 2015-05-04 6 2015-05-05 7 2015-05-06 8 2015-05-06 9 2015-05-06 I need to delete the records for day 5, as well as day 6, as both days are not contained within a row, but have another field, "day", Can I have two variables, variables1 and variables2, to search for a record that has the same day, and then delete the record, if that date is in the same record? In other words, my two variables are: $variable1 = 5 $variable2 = 2015-05-05 I then select the rest of the rows, and want to find all the rows that have this value in their record. Then delete all of them. So id datestamp 3 2015-05-03 6 2015-05-05 7 2015-05-06 Would need to be deleted, and then id datestamp 1 2015-05-02 4 2015-05-04 8 2015-05-06 9 2015-05-06 3a67dffec
