Q: Can I use combineLatest to merge results from three sources in RxSwift? I am doing some asynchronous network requests. When a network request finishes, it triggers an event, and each request results in a partially successful result. I'd like to receive both the successful response and the events that occur in the future. However, I am struggling with combineLatest. Basically, my network calls are fetched by three objects:

enum NetworkError: Error { case unknownError(Int) } enum NetworkResult: Equatable { case success(String) case error(NetworkError) } enum NetworkEvent { case completed

---

case failed(NetworkError) } I want to do the following. func fetchString(completion: @escaping (NetworkResult) -> Void) { fetchString(withCompletion: { (result: NetworkResult) in completion(result) }) } func fetchJson(completion: @escaping (NetworkResult) -> Void) { fetchJson(withCompletion: { (result: NetworkResult) in

Elden Ring - The World Map, the Camp and the City The world map is basically a large-scale map composed of world items and others. There are worlds, towns, camps, and dungeons. Each has its own atmosphere. World Item - What Is a World Item? World Items consist of various items that are the basis of gameplay in the Elden Ring. For example, cities are composed of various types of buildings, towns are composed of shops, etc. Tools - How to Use the Tools Tools are items that can be equipped to various parts of a character, such as the weapon and armor. They can be used by equipping them to various parts of a character and can be used to jump, attack, grapple, and so on. Combat Arts - Combat Arts in the Game Combat Arts is an important element of Elden Ring's gameplay. Each character can use a Combat Art that can be purchased or picked up as a treasure, and they can use it to perform a variety of special attacks that are highlighted in the world map. Combat Arts can also be acquired as a reward by collecting items. Battles - War with Special Attacks There are special attacks that are different for every character. These are shared with the other players in the game, and when they can see the enemy character, they can use these special attacks. Character Combat - The Character Combat System In the game, there are three basic elements that influence the battle: strength, skill, and combat art. Strength influences the strength of the attack, skill influences the accuracy of the attack, and combat art influences the amount of damage dealt. Communication - Communication Completing quests with your friends, and receiving special items as rewards, or discovering rare and valuable treasures and finding hidden treasures are all actions that will allow you to communicate with other players. Enemies - Enemies Enemies are enemies that appear in the world. The enemies come in various sizes and
