Spymemcached seems like it would be perfect for this, but I can't seem to find a way to limit the amount of data it downloads. It takes about 20 seconds (with a 30s time-out) to download the entire cache, even when I limit the number of items in the store. I tried SSCache, but am having trouble converting from memory to disk. Does someone know of a way to use Spymemcached without downloading the entire store? A: Turns out the answer lies in the timeout option you supply to Spymemcached. This has to be changed to 10 minutes or less, even if the time-out is specified in milliseconds.

Design and Evaluation of Facial Composites: A Systematic Review. The effects of facial composite substructure design characteristics on physical properties such as translucency, hardness, and impact resistance have not been examined in detail. The purpose of this study was to investigate the effect of facial composite substructure design characteristics on physical properties of facial composite materials. This study used the systematic review approach to investigate the effects of facial composite substructure design characteristics on physical properties of facial composite materials. The databases MEDLINE, PubMed, Cochrane, and Scopus were systematically searched for studies that investigated the physical properties of facial composite materials using facial composites with different substructure designs. Studies that reported the translucency values of facial composite materials were included. Study quality was evaluated using the Jadad scale, and results were tabulated with descriptive statistics. A total of 25 studies were included in the systematic review. The average translucency of facial composite materials was 0.53 mm (minimum, 0.44 mm; maximum, 0.67 mm) for the substructure designs described, whereas the average translucency
