Fernbus Simulator – Football Team Bus is the add-on for Fernbus Simulator, a wonderful simulation of a bus driven by the German railway operator Fernbahn. Get behind the wheel of a bus and drive your football team from Cologne to Hamburger SV on the way to the “Blu-Bayern”-sporting and drinking-fuelled touristic destination Hamburg. Drive through the Brandenburg countryside and through the hilly Western coast of Germany to the North Sea before ending in the great Hamburg city centre. Fernbus Simulator – Football Team Bus is completely free of charge for owners of Fernbus Simulator and all features are unlocked from the very first start of the game. Week 12: Charles Clay facing the future Panthers' Charles Clay (85) runs past Bills' Marcus Easley in the third quarter of an NFL football game on Sunday, Nov. 3, 2012, in Orchard Park, N.Y. (AP Photo/Kathy Willens) CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The clock is ticking down to the final weeks of the season for Panthers running back DeAngelo Williams. The veteran is nearing the end of his playing career. However, he's refusing to get into retirement talk just yet. “The way I look at it,” Williams said, “I'm just getting started.” Williams has been a model of consistency for the Panthers, making the Pro Bowl in his eighth season and the All-Pro team in his seventh. But the three-time All-Pro has been hampered by injuries, becoming only the second player in NFL history to reach 1,000 yards rushing with six different teams in his career. He's been out since tearing his right MCL in last season's fifth game. With Williams sidelined, rookie Kenjon Barner has taken over as the offense's bell-cow back. He's played well, rushing for seven touchdowns in his first four games. “I'm just doing my best,” Barner said, “and I can't control much else.” Barner's first touchdown came when he was forced out of bounds with 10:57 remaining in the second quarter. On the next play, he rushed for a 69-yard touchdown to give Carolina a 14-0 lead.
