----- HUNDREDS OF PREVIEW PICS -- SOME SPOILERS AHEAD

System Requirements:

anning Hazardous Footage was initially a PC only game so we had to create a performance system for the game based around mouse input. We worked with a number of game developers in the UK to help develop the necessary performance system using their expertise. Since we would have a number of different films to display, we needed a system which allowed us to display the most recently viewed footage first. We could have just decided to use mouse input for the entire game but we wanted to make sure that the game would not require a mouse to be used to interact with the game.
