Akebono's proven design, development, and manufacturing capabilities enable it to fabricate pads and components from a wide variety of materials, such as steel and cast aluminum, ceramics, fiberglass, stainless steel, and titanium. Akebono's master brake and clutch technicians are capable of working from prototype to production in a matter of days. In addition to brakes, Akebono also supplies clutch components. This is a highly specialized area of the business, and we are the only major manufacturer of clutch components. This division allows us to develop and perfect the clutch components that we can only reproduce reliably with our technology, rather than relying on OEM alternatives. This is why we find Akebono competing on a world class level. AJAX - AJAX brake pads are carefully developed to provide controlled surface wear to the pads. This improves both stopping and fade characteristics and ensures that the pads are worn evenly, over an extended life. It also allows the service life of the pads to be greatly extended without compromising brake performance.  Some products in the lineup are not distributed subject to country/region. Akebono brake pads are designed and manufactured exclusively in Japan. With a heritage of over 90 years, our engineers have developed a high performance braking system, for use on virtually any type of braking application.  Some products in the lineup are not distributed subject to country/region. Visconti - Visconti brake pads allow for significantly extended brake pad life with minimal fade, improve braking performance and deliver excellent resistance to knocking. Visconti brake pads are manufactured in Italy. 5ec8ef588b
